NO WONDER

Our Cloak Department is crowded with buyers. Business in this department has been phenomenal. We have sold more Cloaks this year than any three years of our history. There must be some good reason for this wonderful business. Our low prices combined with the great assortment is the drawing card. This week there will be still greater crowds.

There will be no Boxing Match.

The much talked of boxing match at the Turner hall next Saturday night will not come off, the date having been cancelled. A telegram was received from James Lavin yesterday saying that the parties, all of whom are at Parkersburg, could not come as Clark had broken his hand. There will be a good many sports disappointed by this intelligence.

Yesterday's Police Court.

In the Mayor's court yesterday the case against Pat O'Brien, arrested for obstructing the street, was dismissed. Henry Frabel, drunk, was fined $1 and costs. James Cosack, an Italian who had a fight with a fellow countryman the night before, was assessed $3 and costs, and A. Travis, for indecency in public, $1 and costs. None of the three had the price, and they wandered to the jail for thirty days.

Accident to Mr. McDonald.

Yesterday Mr. W. P. McDonald, the contractor on the Baltimore & Ohio company's big improvements at McMechen, went down on the noon train on the Ohio River railroad, which does not stop at McMechen, and he jumped as the train passed there. He slipped and fell head foremost, striking on his right shoulder, and fracturing his shoulder blade. Dr. W. A. Dowler was called and set the broken bone and made Mr. McDonald as comfortable as possible.

A Plucky Youngster.

Yesterday, shortly after noon, a horse belonging to M. Freimuth, the barber, and driven by his young son, took fright at something at the east end of Fourteenth street and started to run down town at a dangerous speed. The boy clung to the lines, but could not control the animal, which turned sharp at Main street, tilting the light wagon and throwing the boy out in the street. He was not badly hurt, and the horse was stopped not long after without any serious results.

Stole an Overcoat.

Yesterday Chief of Police Dellbrugge and Officer Lukins arrested John Bassett, alias Barrett, and Joseph Hart, alias Hawleyman, on a charge of stealing an overcoat from Kraus Brothers & Baer the day before. When the coat was missed these two men were suspected and a description given to the officers from which they easily recognized the men, and they watched one of their resorts until they appeared, when they were picked up and taken before Squire Arkle, who sent them to jail to await a hearing to-day at 2 p. m.

Reception to Clerics.

A social reception will be given to the clerics of the city at 8 o'clock this evening at the Young Men's Christian Association building. The programme will consist of vocal and instrumental music and readings by Miss Sadie Gundling, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Miss Jennie Reich, Miss Hennig, Dr. John McClure, Harry Sweeney, Dr. Milligan and William McCoy. The Friday evening gymnasium class will give an exhibition. All young men who are employed as clerks or salesmen are cordially invited to attend the reception.

A Surprise Party.

A surprise party was tendered Henry Renke, the popular young clerk at Behrens' branch store, at his home on the South Side yesterday. He becomes a man to-day, and his friends conspired to cause him to remember pleasantly the last day of his boyhood. At 8 o'clock in the evening about thirty young people appeared at his father's house, bringing music along and prepared to have a good time. The good time followed and the rest of the evening was spent in dancing. Elegant refreshments were served, and were appreciated by the young folks. Henry must be called "Mr." from this time on. During the height of the festivities Mr. Renke's father presented him with a handsome gold watch. He is going to try hard to find use for the shaving set, which was also given him.

Try the new Wheeling Building Association. Meets at office of Franklin Insurance Company, 34 Twelfth street, next Saturday night for reception of dues.

BOILER MAKERS BUSY.

Cox & Morrison have Plenty of Work and not Enough Men.

OTHER THRIVING INDUSTRIES.

Improvements and Enlargements to Various Factories in Progress or to be Built soon—The new Office Building at Reymann's—Big Refinery.

At Cox & Morrison's boiler works seventeen men are employed now, and the firm could give employment to several more if the skilled labor they require could be found in the community. They are now making for the Duris, of Mannington, a tank to withstand 500 pounds pressure to the square inch and to be twelve feet high. They are also engaged on an order for boilers for the United States Glass company, to go to the company's Fostoria factory. Recently the firm bid on a monster stand pipe to be erected for the city water works at Elton, O., and was the lowest bidder, but owing to a misunderstanding of one of the conditions the next lowest bidder got the job. Wheeling-made boilers are all hand work, which is more costly than the machine work, on which unskilled labor can be employed, but it is considerably better than work which costs less.

THE U. S. GLASS COMPANY.

Three Representatives of it Here to look at the Central Works—How the Combine Works.

Messrs. William P. Shinn, William Waite and E. F. Dorry, three representatives of the U. S. Glass Company from Pittsburgh, are at the McLeuro house. They came down last evening to examine the Central glass works and fix some of the details of valuation not yet adjusted. An INTELLIGENCER reporter had an interesting talk with Mr. Shinn last evening, as to the practical workings of the new company so far. Mr. Shinn says the company has every reason to be glad that it undertook the enterprise. The U. S. Glass Company has sold so far about 10 per cent more glassware than the individual factories included in it sold last year. This is doubtless, he thinks, partly due to a general improvement in the glass market, but not all. Some of it must be attributed to the increased facilities of the combined factories. The new company has just begun to realize the advantages which it was hoped to reap by the consolidation. The saving of salaries alone represents about 3 or 4 per cent on the capital stock of the company, which is a considerable help toward a dividend. It is by cheapening the cost of production to the company rather than by increasing prices to the consumer that the company expects to increase profits. The large concern, with its vastly increased consumption of the raw materials, can of course get better prices than the separate factories buying as individuals.

In the new company the factories are known by the letters of the alphabet, and it was the aim so far as possible to retain as the designating letter the first letter of the old company's name. Thus for instance the Hobbs factory becomes factory H. In the case of the Central it was not possible to retain the letter C, as there was a C factory before it was taken into the company. It is factory O. There are now fifteen factories in the U. S. company, and the Beatty Bros. factory is still the subject of negotiations, and will probably be taken in soon.

Reymann Brewery Improvements.

The additional large building erected by the Reymann Brewing Company this season is receiving the finishing touches on the ceiling, which is all that remains to be done. Work is now in progress tearing down the old office building of the company, to make room for a complete and modern building, which it is aimed to make the handsomest and most complete in West Virginia. It will include a fire-proof vault 61 by 8 feet, having eighteen-inch fire brick walls. The first floor will be devoted to offices and a reception room, while in the second will be a bath room and other conveniences. No time will be lost on its construction.

The Postwick Steel Lath.

Work has not yet begun on the factory of the Postwick steel lath company. It is probable that the first order for the lath for use in Wheeling, that of 40,000 square feet for the new City bank building, will be made on the machine which has been on exhibition at Cox & Morrison's works, but the new company's own plant will be erected as soon as possible, and can be put up in a very few weeks after it is begun.

Improvements at the Crescent.

The shafting and gearing for the new forty-ton mill is being put in by Sweeney & Son. The shafting and gearing for a new mill at the same works, to be used for cold rolling, is also now being adjusted by the same firm, and the two idle mills will start up as soon as the improvements are completed.

The New Oil Refinery.

Fair progress has been made on the new oil refinery of the Camden Consolidated Oil Company, out beyond the creek. It will have a considerably increased capacity, and will be ready for use in a short time. It is quite as eligibly located as the old one, being right on the Terminal tracks, which will add much to the convenience of transportation.
